

SCIENCE FOR ALL SUMMIT

February 28-29, 2024 | Chapel Hill, NC

Program Summary

Morehead created the Science for All Summit to engage educators, practitioners, researchers, and other change agents in conversation and knowledge building around emerging issues and innovative strategies related to advancing inclusion, diversity, equity, and access (IDEA) in the fields of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM).

The target audience for the Summit includes formal and informal educators, nonprofit organizations, corporations, universities, colleges and community colleges, and undergraduate and graduate students. Scholarships are available to ensure the Summit is accessible and inclusive.

Sponsorship Benefits

- + Position your organization as a critical partner in promoting innovation and valuing IDEA in STEM
- + Engage a community that collaborates, innovates, and implements promising practices shown to effect sustainable change in advancing IDEA in STEM
- + Network with leading educators, practitioners, researchers, and thought leaders
